Chris, I've attached the "final" version of the Q/A as it existed before our prep session on Thursday. I will get you an updated version before you leave today that includes at least some of the Thursday discussion plus subsequent email, etc, I will send you anything that doesn't make it into that version separately later.

You are correct--- we do have time, so no need to rush. I just want to make sure I have the latest info consolidated in one document for my book tomorrow. Updates can come later (and not whole new document---I can't print---just outstanding stuff.

Thanks so much

Chris, you don't have it yet though you do have pieces of it that came in one at a time. My apologies. I had misunderstood that you didn't need it until the end of the week

At any rate, I can get it to you before you leave tomorrow. I believe I have all the material, I had just wanted to organize it a little better. I will do that tomorrow morning
